Tribute to "Reggie Lewis"

(1965-1993)

The Boston Celtics late captain Reggie Lewis was not only an All-Star on the court but off the court as well. He worked with various clubs here in Boston and in Baltimore, Md. His outstanding playing ability was only surpassed by the major contributions he made to the community.

After signing with the Celtics in 1988 he slowly began establishing himself as a marquette basketball player. During his rookie season he received little playing time and was not known by the Celtics audience. The following year after contract talks and a new head coach, he began to get into the flow of things. After a while he was a crowd favorite and one of the league leaders in scoring. Reggie took his game to a higher level every season. For the 1992-1993 season Reggie Lewis was named team captain after the retirement of previous team captain Larry Bird, and he took to his new role very well.

Reggie Lewis embodied the term "Celtics Pride" on and off the court; off the court he established himself as a positive role model for young men everywhere.

Reggie made various contributions to his community, from teaching kids the fundamentals of basketball at numerous basketball camps, to passing out 1,200 turkeys on Thanksgiving over a three year span. He was one of those guys who always went the extra mile when it came to helping others. He could have easily just taken the promo picture for the Thanksgiving project and gone home, but he spent his day personally issuing turkeys to individuals. Lewis also conducted his own summer league at the Shelburne Community Center in Roxbury and he participated in the National Youth Sports Camp (sponsored by the NCAA).

Reggie did a public service announcement for the Special Olympics with Phoenix Suns' forward Dan Majerle. He also helped promote the Walk for Hunger and he participated in the National Basketball Association's Stay in School program. Besides all that Reggie gave a helping hand at the Roxbury Boys' Club and at Children's Hospital, where the Celtics visit during the Christmas season.

Reggie Lewis tragically left us on July 27, 1993. It seems unfair that the good always seem to die young. Yet, we must never forget the many good things that "Reggie" did for us all. Reggie wouldn't want us to grieve over his death but to lead productive lives and be the future leaders in our communities.

His example has inspired us to reach for the best in ourselves. We are proud to dedicate this yearbook in his memory. May the life of Reggie Lewis always be remembered.

Headmaster's Address

John D. O'Bryant
School

To The Graduating Class:

Let me congratulate you on the occasion of your graduation from The John D. O'Bryant School of Mathematics and Science. The teachers, administration, and I are extremely proud.

Time and time again, members of this year's senior class have demonstrated that they had the will, determination and perseverance to overcome obstacles that threatened to keep them from accomplishing their goals and aspirations. Whether you choose to go to college or pursue a career in the fall, I feel confident that you will continue to make all of us, including your parents, proud of your accomplishments.

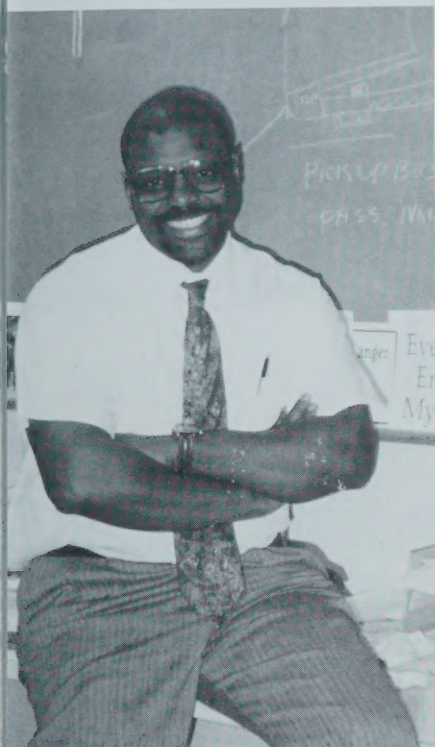

Newspapers and magazines have much to say about the decay and decline of our present society and about the involvement of today's youth with drugs, alcohol, and crime. Very little is mentioned about the young men and women who avoid the pitfalls of life and successfully complete their education.

The future of this country is at stake. Your contribution is important and needed. You are not only the future, but also the hope of this city and nation. You represent tomorrow's leaders.

Best wishes in all the years ahead. May they be happy and fulfilling ones for you.

Gustave Anglin
Headmaster

We Determine Our Future . . .

The class of 1994 is celebrating 100 years of education and history. We have gone through many changes, from the changing of the name to the changing of the building.

Let's start from the very beginning, before Boston Tech was the John D. O'Bryant and when Tech was known as Mechanic Arts High. The Boston Mechanic Arts High School opened in 1893. The school was designed to prepare boys for the industrial world offering: 1) an advanced apprenticeship; 2). an advanced instruction for admittance to technical colleges, such as MIT or Worcester Polytech; and 3.) preparation for industry and business.

The class of 1944 was the last to graduate from Mechanic Arts High. In 1945, the school was renamed Boston Technical High. The school now served its purpose as a technical school. In 1958, the school moved to Townsend and Warren Streets in Roxbury, into the building that once housed the Roxbury Memorial High School. The old building was coming down and soon a hotel would occupy the lot.

Tech was a success. Over 90% of the graduating class were accepted into very good colleges such as Boston University, Wentworth, and MIT.

Technical became one of three prestigious exam schools, after 1959. Admission to the school became very selective. But the year of 1963 marked one of the most important changes in its history. For the first time, a few girls were admitted. Today, half of the school's population is female.

In 1987, the school underwent another change. The school was to move to New Dudley Street in Roxbury. Because Tech's building connected with Madison Park H.S., there were minor problems, but this was expected with the sudden change.

. . . By Remembering Our Past

In 1989, the Umana shut down and merged with Tech. With the arrival of Umana's middle school, Boston Tech began accepting seventh and eighth graders.

As time changed, so did the curriculum of the school. We were no longer a technical school. The curriculum had changed to one of math and science. It was felt that the school's name should reflect its philosophy and the reality of instruction. In 1992, the school's name was changed. Tech would no longer be Tech.

In memory of his work, as a school committee chairperson and as a well respected leader of the community, the school committee agreed that the school would now be called the John D. O'Bryant School of Mathematics and Science. We realize that it is a great honor that we are now known as O'Bryant students.

Yes, there were changes, during the century now gone, but they were for the better. They were stepping stones to a better future, and we are now standing on a firm rock. We look back with pride. We look on, yet still recall our past because there is a history worth remembering. And as we move on, we take to heart these wise words: our history is important, the past will help determine our future.

FROM START TO finish

Senior Class Officers

After all our hard work we're graduating at last. We entered Boston Technical High School in September of 1990 hardly knowing each other, but day by day we became friends. Our unity gave us the opportunity to achieve many of our goals.

I remember in our junior year Boston Technical High School became John D. O'Bryant School Of Math and Science. Eventually we realized the significance of having our school named after a prominent community and education leader.

Within the four years we shared together there were many changes, but one thing that didn't change was our strive to succeed together. When we look back at our past we realize all of the positive and negative things that have happened to us. We have come to know that we learned from our mistakes. When we look back at the past we see all of the hard work and struggles we went through to attain our present status.

Every time you start something, use the past as a useful resource, because, WE DETERMINE OUR FUTURE BY REMEMBERING OUR PAST.

Forever Yours,

A Word From The Captain

As another volleyball season comes to an end, I would like to say, "We're still the best!" This year was a challenge to everyone, especially during Coach Fisher's leave of absences. Although we missed her terribly, there was a lesson we all learned. "No matter what our agendas were, by sticking together and supporting each other we always came out the true winners."

I would like to wish the team in the years to come much success. "Keep up our winning traditions!" Good luck to all the seniors as we approach yet another challenge, "COLLEGE."

COMMENCEMENT 1994

... IF YOU TAKE A LONG, HARD LOOK BACK, WE HAVE DONE MANY POSITIVE THINGS DURING OUR STAY AT THE O'BRYANT. BUT IT DOESN'T END HERE. AS WE ENTER THE REAL WORLD, WE BEGIN ANOTHER JOURNEY. A JOURNEY THROUGH THE FUTURE. THIS JOURNEY WILL LEAD SOME OF US THROUGH COLLEGE OR IT MIGHT LEAD US DIRECTLY INTO A CAREER FROM HIGH SCHOOL. BUT THE POINT IS THAT AS LONG AS WE KEEP OUR JOURNEY POSITIVE AND PRODUCTIVE, WE WILL NEVER GET LOST ON THE WAY TO OUR GOALS AND DREAMS.
